Wrangell's Opportunity

There has been considerable discussion among Wrangell's business men of late as to whether it were possible to induce more of the halibut fishermen to make Wrangell their shipping point. The business men of the town seem to be a unit in the idea that some inducement should be offered. Some of them suggest one thing, some another, but the consensus of opinion seems to be that Wrangell should make a bid for this business by making shipping from this point more convenient. They favor the securing of a scow at or near the wharf, from which to make the fish shipments, on the same plan as that at Petersburg.

There can be no denying the fact that we should get busy. This point is as convenient to the greater part of the fishing grounds as is Petersburg, in fact in matter of actual time of travel it is nearer, as there is no tide to contend with in reaching this point, such as encountered in the Narrows. Then if shipments were made from this place, the fishermen would prospect the waters southwest of here, a region now practically untouched, but as good, probably, as that to the north of the Narrows.

The matter is in our hands. We must make it as easy and as cheap for the shipper to get his ice and then get his product on board the steamer here, as it is elsewhere.

The result: Well any man in town must know that everybody in the town would be benefitted by bringing the fishermen here to ship, for where they ship from, that is where they outfit for the next trip. It's worth trying for, and all it needs is for someone to get busy and start the ball to rolling.

J. H. Wheeler left for the south on the Jefferson, where will order his goods for the Christmas trade. "Schilling's Best" Aiken arrived on a recent boat, and will leave for West Coast points on tonight's Uncle Dan.

Survey Boat In Port

The geodetic survey steamer Gedney was a local visitor Monday of this week. Those on board her have been engaged in survey work on Wrangell Narrows during the past season, and came over after coal for her bunkers, securing enough to tide her over from Sam Cunningham. She remained here until the following morning, giving the boys of the crew a chance to stretch their legs a little on shore. The expectations are that she will finish her season's work within the next couple of weeks, and will then sail for Seattle.

New Musical Instrument

C. Denny, the Mint's proprietor, evidently intends to keep that popular place of amusement in the front rank. During the past week he installed an automatic piano, which is proving a winner. It plays all the popular airs, and what is more it is always on the job.

Agents For Gas Engines

During the past week Donald Sinclair has secured the agency for the famous Fairbanks-Morse line of gasoline motors, and will push the sale thereof here in the town in the future. The company turns out two grades of two cycle engines and the same in four cycle, so that almost anybody should be able to get just what he wants in that line.

The Thlinget Trading company has also decided to handle engines and by a recent boat was in receipt of two Automatic two cycle engines manufactured by the Lockwood-Ashe Co. These engines are sturdy looking machines, and if they are anything like the four cycle Automatics they are good ones.

Will Start New Restaurant

F. A. Scott and wife are busily engaged renovating the little red restaurant building just across the street from the Thlinget store, preparatory to opening a restaurant there about the middle of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Scott are both well known in the catering line here in Wrangell, having had charge of the dining room of the Wrangell Hotel for the past year, to the general satisfaction of all concerned. According to their present plans, they will make a specialty of short orders.

L. E. Buell, with 101 samples of Armour's Best in his grips, has been a local visitor this week.

Bring Them On This Side

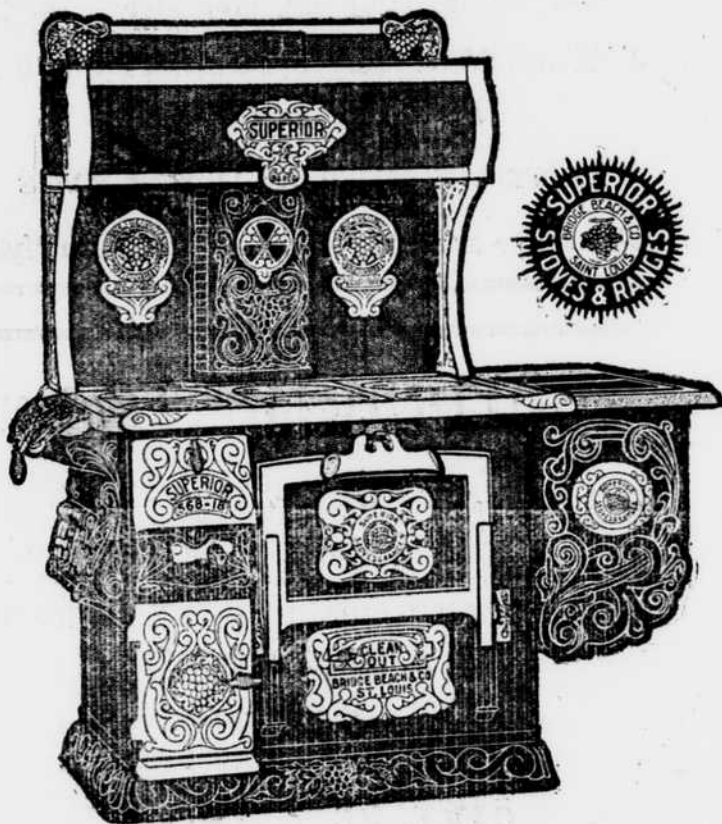

As far as it is possible for anybody here to be sure, it looks as though it were practically a foregone conclusion that the headquarters for the Alaskan lighthouse district will be here in Wrangell, and about all that remains to be decided is just where it will be here. Some people seem to be of the opinion that the best location for it would be across on Shustak's point or up on that side toward the head of the bay. Of course Wrangell and Wrangellites will really have little or nothing to say in the matter, still it seems to this paper that with a waterfront on this side extending from the Loftus property on the one extreme to Shakes' island on the other, it were the worse kind of foolishness for a Wrangellite to even think that the station should be located anywhere else than on this shore.

There are a dozen reasons which can be offered in favor of this side to one on the other. Here are conveniences—nearness to the cable and post offices, stores, steamship lines, etc.; water supply; electric lighting; the social advantages; church and schooling facilities and residences for those who may desire to live outside the government holdings; and above all, in-so-far as the businessmen of the town are concerned, if the men in the service have the free access to the town that location on this side would give them, they would do twice as much business in the town than if kept so far away, and besides, just think of the effect it would have on the price of local real estate. On the other hand, as some have suggested, the site across the bay may be larger and therefore better, but the same argument would apply with equal force to the "Elephants Nose," Old Town, or a score of other places.

GOVERNOR CLARK

The generous reception Governor Clark is receiving on all sides is very gratifying, not only to himself, doubtless, but certainly to his friends. There has been much of misrepresentation and absolute falsifying relative to many matters, political and public in Alaska. Governor Clark has been more or less villified by a certain clique, and for certain reasons which his friends know was a cruel injustice to him, and they knew that it only required a more intimate acquaintance with the man to dispel these erroneous ideas.

It is only by coming in personal contact with the man that one can rightly appreciate Governor Clark. He is not exclusive in any sense, but has shown a willingness to meet all parties on a level and candidly discuss any subject of interest to Alaska.

It is confidently believed that his presence was all that was needed to destroy any vestige of distrust in him. Governor Clark did not have any hand in the creation of the factional differences that exist in Alaska; he should not in any sense be charged with or held responsible for them.—Nome Nugget.

The Sitka Training School has closed its doors forever. On its ground which a few days ago was dotted with happy girls and boys, a contractor and force of men are hard at work, and by the coming of another summer, the Sheldon Jackson school will stand ready to carry on the work so nobly done in the old buildings.

For twenty-eight years the old school has stood as the vanguard of native education in Alaska, but the tooth of time and the unceasing tramp of growing feet have worn the buildings until they are no longer serviceable. The new buildings which take their place will have the capacity to carry on the work so nobly begun.

A large school building with gymnasium, a building for the larger girls, one for the little girls, two for the boys, and a laundry with a central heating plant are in the plans. Of the buildings to be replaced by the new ones, much has been written, we will say that the Boys' Home, the original building of the group, was built by Dr. Jackson in 1881, out of lumber he got from a wrecked fish cannery at Old Sitka. The Girls' Home was built out of fogs, old and new lumber in 1884. The laundry was made out of a lot of old sheds in the neighborhood of twenty years ago and equipped with second hand machinery. The machinery has been patched until now only the patches remain.—Sitka Thlinget.

The steamship Dolphin recently carried from Alaska to Seattle a shipment of $225,000 in gold bullion. Purser Ira Cohen took no chances, but ate his meals in his meals in his stateroom where the gold was stored. The same ship carried over $100,000 in gold in the registered mail.

Railway & Marine News says that it is probable that the Princess May will be back on the run again shortly.

Gov. Clark has returned from his visit to the interior.

Iditarod City has a fire department and five well organized companies.

It is stated that "Red" Ellis, owner of the Cliff mine near Valdez, who has leased his property for five years, draws down $250.00 per day as his percentage.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merziam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

THE THIEF

THE thief comes prepared—prepared to take your valuables. Carries the necessary tools. Is expert in their use. One of his tools is the revolver. In plain words, he is prepared to take your life. His deadly intent and expertness makes up for his revolver's awkwardness and slowness.

You have neither expertness or deadly intent. You cannot afford to stake everything upon a wrist-straining, trigger-flinching, slow-as-molasses firearm. Settle this matter to-day for the sake of your family. Get the Savage automatic. The only gun that points straight, shoots true, fires fast, without practice. It is the only gun you can shoot straight any time you pick it up. Ten shots, one to a trigger pull. Reloads a fresh magazine of ten shots in a flash. Our free book "The Tenderfoot's Turn," by Bat Masterson tells why you point the Savage instinctively true. Recent shipments of halibut brought 8 cents per pound in the Seattle market.

W. P. Patten and associates of Seattle, have begun the construction of a cannery at Hawk inlet.

Dredging ground has been discovered on the Kenai river, which it is said, will average close to a dollar a yard.

A petition is being circulated asking for the retention in office of Lillie N. Gordon, postmistress at Seward.

Judge Overfield has announced that he will hold a term of court at Iditarod early next spring.

Dan Meany, a prominent business man of Cordova, died while doctors were removing his appendix.

The quicksilver mines at Chokquak, Alaska, said to be the richest in the world, will be operated on a large scale next summer.

It is expected that by this time next year the Grand Trunk Pacific will be open for a distance of 180 miles east of Prince Rupert.

Miss Hilda Evanson, a Juneau stenographer, has gone to the Iditarod where she will marry Dan Sutherland, formerly U. S. marshal in this division.

Work has begun on the 200 stamp mill for the Ebner property at Juneau. The stamps weigh 1500 pounds each and will drop 105 times a minute. The ore is free-milling and averages about $3.45 per ton.

I said "I am tired of my labors, of putting up hay in the sun; I'm tired of watching my neighbors, whose life is one long round of fun. I'm tired of sowing and reaping, as busy as five hundred bees, while others are playing or sleeping in languor or insolent ease. I'm so tired of the constant endeavor for victories too dry to see; I long for the thing that is ever, a thing in the distance for me." Then the Wise Man, he tightened his gallus and parted his whiskers and said: "You live in that big wooden palace, that's painted buff cochin and red? Your standoff is good with the grocer, your larder is amply supplied? And yet, you are loaded with woe, sir—you give me three pains in the side! You're big and you're husky and healthy—I think it the rankest of shames that you should desire to be wealthy, and sit and crochet with the dames. A man with the thews of a bison should glory in doing his chores, should ask nothing better in his'n than wrestling around out of doors! Oh, sail in and toil, never shirking, and cut out your visions of pelf; the pleasure of life is in working, and work's in a class by itself.—Walt Mason.

Long Siege In Hospital

Charley Nelson was in receipt of a letter this week from Bruno Grief, at San Francisco. The letter states that the writer had just left the hospital after a siege of 52 days of sickness, following an operation for bladder stones. He had recovered sufficiently at the time of writing to be around again, and to begin to make his plans for the future. Among the latter he was contemplating a prospecting trip in search of a mineral property he has known of for years. In case he does not go prospecting he may take a trip to Germany.

Herb Lowe and sister, and Mrs. Dort were also passengers on the Seattle. Herb will go to Boston, his former home, while Miss Lowe will remain in Seattle with her father. Mrs. Dort will visit her husband's people in the east.

Dancing was the order of the day Monday evening while the Gedney was in port, two dances being on the go at once. One was at the hotel, and the other, a native social and dance, was in the Collins building across from The Sentinel office.

Fish Commissioner Cobb reports that the cannery at Dry Bay—the one in which "Marshal" Grant is interested—has succeeded in getting up half their pack, sockeyes and cohoes.
